Excellent document for preparing the examination as a mediator

Written by a team of experienced lawyers and mediators, this third edition of The ADR Practice Guide – Commercial Dispute Resolution is an essential updated guide to civil and commercial dispute resolution. It provides a clear and detailed overview of ADR and helps the reader to realise the business opportunities that it can offer.

Split into three sections, this practical guide looks at the conceptual, the legal, and the practical framework of all aspects of ADR and in particular mediation, providing:

- Better understanding of how to choose between different processes for dispute resolution
- Advice on the key issues that may be encountered when advising a client about the ADR option, and about mediation in particular
- A much expanded and updated overview of the key arguments about the legal status and implications of ADR, with a new and full discussion of the now substantial relevant caselaw
- A detailed explanation of how to set up, prepare for and perform well at a mediation, whether as mediator, lawyer or party

About the authors

Dr Karl Mackie, barrister, Gray's Inn, mediator and chief executive of CEDR, and visiting Professor at University of Westminster; David Miles, solicitor currently practising in construction matters and a mediator, arbitrator and adjudicator; William Marsh, solicitor formerly in commercial practice and now a full-time mediator and international ADR consultant; and Tony Allen, solicitor formerly in practice, now a director of CEDR and a full-time mediator, trainer and writer on ADR matters.
